Karen Mayer Cunningham

The ups and downs of life have taught Karen Mayer that laughter really is the best medicine for what ails you. Her passionate narratives can as easily make you laugh as they can move you to tears.

Karen draws many of her stories from her daily life and more specifically from being the mother of a severely autistic son. More than once Karen wondered how she would face the trials that crossed her path. The weight of the responsibility of a handicapped child, became the cross roads of her life. Her story of how God supernaturally altered and prospered her life will uplift and refresh you.

Whether she is opening for a Grammy award winning musician, redirecting a sales force or lifting up the hearts of a women's encounter, she cuts through with comedy and clarity; challenging others to take it up a notch or two.

Karen knows that through he release of emotions you will internalize her message of possessing the promises and purposes of God, that will take you on the road to truly joyful living.

Karen is a gifted stand-up comic, motivator and author. She and her husband Cortney live in Houston with their three beautiful children, James, Paige, and Caden.

Our Mission

Karen Mayer Ministries is purposed to share the story of Jesus through testimony and comedy in order to bring others to an abiding certainty of God's pervasive faithfulness and peace regardless of their place on the tumultuous journey we call 'life.'

James ...Healed of Autism!

Our son was born completely normal and when he was 18 months old he was suddenly afflicted with autism. We tried therapists, specialists, doctors, Any Baby Can, MHMR for Texas, Social Security, Independent School Districts, private hospitals.... ANYTHING.

But at every turn we found rejection, disbelief, and no help. We did meet a team of people who did ultimately help us. At 5 years-old, spring 2000, James went through deliverance and the team witnessed a miracle. He was so oppressed by the enemy, he could only speak 10-15 words, and even those were unintelligible. He also would get mad and hit his head through the walls of our house.

Fall of 2007, James is starting 7th grade, he is making remarkable strides. He is academically on a 4th grade level, taking back lost ground daily. New people in our live find his past story hard to believe with the boy they meet today. God's miracle working power is not altered by some new illness with a new name. Because we never want to lose the impact of how much we went through and where we are now, we have released a book on his amazing story. I know I must share his story with other hurting families.

For Immediate Release

Want to be inspired? Sit down with some of America's giants on faith!

"Conversations On Faith" offers readers an in-depth look into the lives, lessons and inspirations of a unique collection of men and women who have a rich heritage of faith.

Karen Mayer, of Austin, TX, has been hand-selected through a nationwide search to be a featured author in "Conversations On Faith" from Insight Publishing, to be released in Spring 2004. Also featured in this dynamic collection of interviews are Dr. Robert Schuller (world renown evangelist and best-selling author), Dave Dravecky (Former Major League baseball pitcher and Founder of Outreach of Hope) and Ann Jillian (Broadway, Motion Picture and TV actress, spokesperson and motivational speaker).

This exciting series captures the insights, strategies, and inspiration of faith-minded people and features the transcribed interviews of seventeen other dynamic professionals who offer powerful lessons in faith.

Karen Mayer is a gifted comedian, teacher, and motivator. She draws from her real-life experiences and as the mother of a severely autistic son to bring her audiences to a genuine awareness of God's faithfulness. Karen's passionate style and story will be the subject of a soon-to-be-released book, Strong Winds, Defying Autism.

Karen is married to Tom Mayer, with whom she has two children. She owns a nail salon and is an educator and sales representative for a national manufacturer.
